By Telegraph to The Times.

NEXT NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(Special Dispatch.) Among the most important events of the session occurred today, one which, if it fulfills what it is present promises, will be of untold benefit to the State. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—SENATE.—In the two houses of the Legislature met in joint convention. The minutes of the Senate and Assembly were read, showing that in each house George C. Perkins had received a majority of votes for United States Senator. Senator Perkins was then declared by Speaker Lynch for the House and President Flint for the Senate to be the choice of the joint session of the Legislature for Senator. The clerks were notified to inform the Governor of the election, and a committee of five to notify Senator Perkins of his election and invite him to appear before the Legislature in joint convention was appointed.

Senator Perkins was invited by the committee of five to address the joint Assembly. Amid loud and continuous cheering, he was introduced and made a pleasant speech, thanking all who had helped to elect him, especially Senator Noble Martin, the Democrat. He promised to work hard for the State. The joint Assembly

Mr. Biddle of Los Angeles offered an amendment, delaying the adoption of the resolution. It was defeated by 44 to 33.

By a vote of 67 to 9, Mr. Biddle's resolution was adopted. Those voting are Messrs. Bettman, Brusie, Butler, Davitt, Dinkelspiel, Glass, Hatfield, Spencer, Weise and Wilkinson.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—(Special Dispatch.) AMENDMENT.—In the Assembly tomorrow morning is one providing for the establishment and maintenance by them to seek new quarters. He was told to change his tactics, but at 2:30 he ordered the men to burn out of the cars. When they refused to turn over the power and tried to move it out of the car, he was arrested and taken before the colonel.

About 7 p.m. members of the First Regiment had a breeze with a mob of 160 men who had smashed the windows of cars of the Ralph Avenue line at Ralph Avenue and Sumpter street. Col. Green of the Seventh dragoons, having the rumpus, telephoned Capt. Keck, who was stationed near the disturbed district, and the latter with 200 men hurried to the scene and jabbed and butted the crowd away, so that the cars resumed their trip, accompanied by the troops.

At Ridgewood, New York, this evening, W. C. Lindley, P. J. Mackay, Martin and Reed, special policemen, walked into the Bushwick Avenue car stables and surrendered their shields, refusing to work any longer.

From early morning until past noon there was more excitement in the vicinity of the Third Avenue Hall than there had been since the strike commenced. At Third Avenue and Fifty-eighth Street presented a busy scene at 11 o'clock when a Court-street and a Halsey-street car reached the depot filled with fifty non-union men, who were at once lodged in the depot. Each corner on the east side of the avenue was thronged by the strikers and their sympathizers, while in the stables were drawn up 100 men of the Twenty-third Regiment, under Capt. Thorne. The strikers contented themselves with shouting and jeering the militia.

Some hours previous to the running of the first car the repair-wagon of the Brooklyn Heights Company went down Third Avenue, cleared the tracks from Fifth- to Second street. The block between these two streets was filled with bricks, stones, lumber and trunks of trees, which had been cut in the vicinity so as to render the running of cars an impossibility. The repair-wagon was manned by twelve men and escorted by troops. When they reached the Peacock Club, the strikers had collected at Fifty-second street, some three hundred men, who had assembled there, jeered and denounced the escort and hurled several volleys at the men who were removing the obstacles.

Lieut. Bagley, who was in charge of the troops, called them to disperse. The strikers replied by another attack of stones. Lieut. Bagley then ordered his men to charge and strike the rioters with the flat of their sabers. On this being done, the strikers ran away. When the railway employees finished their work, the strikers reassembled and followed up the escort and renewed the stone throwing. While the strikers were engaged, some of the strikers received sword thrusts, but managed to escape. No further disturbance occurred during the day.

At the strikers' headquarters the men were still confident and said that if it took 500 men to run one car, the company would make an effort to run the road.

President Lewis had ordered his men to charge and strike the rioters with the flat of their sabers. On this being done, the strikers ran away. When the railway employees finished their work, the strikers reassembled and followed up the escort and renewed the stone throwing. While the strikers were engaged, some of the strikers received sword thrusts, but managed to escape. No further disturbance occurred during the day.

A statement is made at 1:30 o'clock this (Thursday) morning that President Newton of the Brooklyn Heights Railway would make an effort to open the road to Hammontown, Red Hook and Green Point and from the creek at Green Point at Fulton Ferry. He, it is declared, will start cars at an early hour and, as the neighborhood of Red Hook and Green Point is a breeding ground for strikers and their sympathizers, trouble of a serious nature is anticipated, provided the attempt is made. Strong detachments of military will guard the road sent out in advance.

President Lewis said tonight that he regarded the situation as very bright at present. They had operated some two hundred cars on all their lines, and they expected to add about 100 more cars tomorrow. The linemen had a meeting to night and decided to go out on a strike in the morning.

MILLIONS.

THE GOOD FORTUNE OF A FARM LABORER.

Heir to the Great Australian Estate of a Deceased Uncle—He Grows in Favor with the Ladies.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

MAY'S LANDING (N. Y.) Jan. 23.— Frank Burgess, a laborer employed on the farm of Capt. William Burgess, his uncle, near the Camden and Atlantic Railway at Hammontown, it now appears, will come into a share of millions instead of thousands. The good fortune of Burgess comes through the death of Manderson Bangs, his mother's brother, living in Melbourne, Australia. Burgess was notified of his fortune by a lawyer, who visited him a few days ago at the home of his uncle. The lawyer urged Burgess to accompany him back to New York and take a steamer for Australia and, although the visitor offered to pay all the expenses, Burgess declined to go.

Burgess is 32 years old, is intelligent, steady and industrious and highly regarded by all with whom he comes in contact. He seems completely dazed by this unexpected good fortune and says that it seems to be too good to be true. Ever since it became known that he was an heir to possible millions all the marriageable maidens of the town have very suddenly assumed a deep interest in the young man. The young men look enviously upon him while the young girls smile so sweetly that the future rustic Cremona scarcely knows how to carry himself. Bangs' Burgess' deceased uncle, from whom the inheritance comes, formerly followed the sea, but settling in Australia and purchased thousands of acres of land very cheaply. The land increased in value rapidly and at his death was estimated to be worth several millions. His wife died some years before him and his only heir has since been found. The cases are still in court and are causing much excitement.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—SENATE.—The credentials of Senator McMillan of Michigan, for the term beginning March 4 next, and of Mr. Burrows, who succeeded to the unexpired term of Senator Stockbridge, were presented to the Senate today.

Senator Smith's currency bill provides that the President shall appoint four commissioners from civil life, no more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party. The President of the Senate shall appoint four Senators, more than two of whom shall be members of the same party; the Speaker of the House is to designate four members under the same conditions.

The Senators and members chosen are to be members of the Fifty-fourth Congress. These are to be known as the "demonstrative commission." It is made the duty of the commissioners to inquire into the various resolutions relating to the currency, so far as may be necessary to test a judicious system of currency on a sound basis.

The commission is empowered to visit different portions of the country and make to Congress a full report of its investigation together with recommendations as it may deem to be the best interest of the country not later than the second Monday in December, 1895.

A few Sundays ago the deacons were severely criticised by Dr. Johnson, the new pastor. R. A. Tulley, one of the deacons, declared that he would avenge it.

After further discussion the committee rose. Then, at 4:45 p.m., the House adjourned.

Senator Jones Introduces a New Financial and Commercial Bill.

Senator Palmer Stands off the Union Pacific Foreclosure Proceedings.

Mr. Dingley and the Fur-seal Fisheries.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

WASHINGTON, January 23.—In Senator Jones' financial and currency bill, introduced today, authority is given the Secretary of the Treasury to issue $500,000 bonds, payable in coin of standard value and bearing interest. The bonds are to mature in thirty years from date, and may be redeemed in twenty years. The proceeds of the bonds are to be used to defray the current expenses of the government and for the redemption of United States legal tenders and treasury notes issued under the act of July 14, 1890. The bonds are to be of the denomination of $20 and $50 and multiples, and are to be free from taxes. They must be paid for in gold or the Secretary may accept United States notes and treasury notes under the act of 1890.

National banks may issue circulating notes to the amount of bonds deposited with the Secretary of the Treasury, and the tax on such circulation is reduced to one-half of 1 per cent.

So far as the Secretary of the Treasury is concerned, he has no objection to the bill.

Mr. Dingley, Secretary of the Treasury, has introduced a bill, directing that the senior mortgage bonds of the Union Pacific Railroad be payable in silver dollars.

The bill provides that if there are not enough silver dollars coined and in the treasury the Secretary shall coin from the bullion in the treasury enough to meet the deficit.

Secs. 6 and 7 provide for the displacement of all national bank and United States treasury notes of denominations less than $10, with silver certificates.

THE UNION PACIFIC BONDS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Senator Palmer introduced a bill today, directing that the senior mortgage bonds of the Union Pacific Railroad be payable in silver dollars.

The bill provides further that if there are not enough silver dollars coined and in the treasury the Secretary shall coin from the bullion in the treasury enough to meet the deficit.

Mr. Dingley presented a bill, which was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. McMillan from the Ways and Means Committee reported a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for the cost to the United States for supporting a "Kingly government in Samoa." The House then went into committee of the whole and took up the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill.

Mr. Sayers of Texas, who was in charge of the bill, explained its provisions and new features. It carried $3,540,721, which is $7,843,000 less than the estimates, and $4,298,945 more than the bill for the current year.

Mr. Pickler of South Dakota took the first opportunity afforded to pay a tribute to Charles L. Carter, whom he described as the Hawaiian patriot who fell fighting for the cause of his country.

This morning one of the rotaries, that was clearing the road before the two west-bound overland trains Nos. 2 and 4, broke a wheel on this side of Emigrant Gap, causing the derailment of one of the twelve-wheel compound locomotives. The rotary was taken to Gold Run, and the overland trains were detained at Blue Cloud.

The river is now a vast stretch of country, almost as far as the eye can reach, under water, only the tops of fence-posts being visible.

Word was received today from the vicinity of Peter's Ferry, requesting that a number of sacks be forwarded immediately, so that there is evidently trouble there.

Mr. Reed asked if it was not true that the United States government was spending a large sum of money to enable Canadian sealers to do their work more effectively, and Mr. Dingley replied that it was.

Mr. Reed asked if it was not true that the United States government was spending a large sum of money to enable Canadian sealers to do their work more effectively, and Mr. Dingley replied that it was.

Mr. Dingley presented a bill, which was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. McMillan from the Ways and Means Committee reported a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for the cost to the United States for supporting a "Kingly government in Samoa." The House then went into committee of the whole and took up the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill.

Mr. Sayers of Texas, who was in charge of the bill, explained its provisions and new features. It carried $3,540,721, which is $7,843,000 less than the estimates, and $4,298,945 more than the bill for the current year.

Mr. Pickler of South Dakota took the first opportunity afforded to pay a tribute to Charles L. Carter, whom he described as the Hawaiian patriot who fell fighting for the cause of his country.

Mr. Dingley presented a bill, which was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

This morning one of the rotaries, that was clearing the road before the two west-bound overland trains Nos. 2 and 4, broke a wheel on this side of Emigrant Gap, causing the derailment of one of the twelve-wheel compound locomotives. The rotary was taken to Gold Run, and the overland trains were detained at Blue Cloud.

The snow depth is as follows: Truckee, 8 feet, 9 inches; Summit, 20 feet; Cascade, 19 feet; Cisco, 18 feet; Emigrant Gap, 14 feet; Blue Canyon, 12 feet; Gold Run, 4 feet; 4 inches.

(COAST RECORD)
THE REFORMERS.

A Legislative Committee is Wanted.

Corruption in the High Places in San Francisco Must Vanish.

An Order to Produce All of Fair's Wills Denied—A Fraudulent Stock Transaction—Ship-wrecked People.

SAN FRANCISCO., Jan. 23.—The Committee of Eleven that was appointed at a public meeting held at Metropolitan Hall to discuss the propriety of having the various municipal departments of San Francisco investigated, met this afternoon. The principal business of the meeting was the report of the sub-committee on legislation.

The report recommends the appointment of a committee of seven, four from the Assembly and three from the Senate, to investigate thoroughly the alleged corruption. The committee shall have power to summon before it all witnesses necessary to compel the productions of papers, to administer oaths and any other prerogatives necessary to obtain information required. The resolution provides for stenographers, supplies, etc., and places no limitation upon the place where the committee shall hold its meeting.

It is to report to the Legislature some ordinary penalties for perjury for those who testify falsely before the commission. The sub-committee will go to Sacramento to push the resolution.

SHIPWRECKED PEOPLE.

Capt. Gould and Others from the Mary L. Stone Arrive at Frisco.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.
SAN FRANCISCO., Jan. 23.—The steamer Peru, which arrived from China and Japan last evening, brought among her passengers Capt. W. H. Gould of the American ship Mary L. Stone, which was lost on the eastern side of Formosa Island on November 24. The captain was accompanied by his wife and child and Henry S. Ward, who was formerly chief officer on the stone.

The ship went ashore on the sandy bank at 10 p.m. with three hours of daylight through a stream dashed with rocks. The vessel began to fill with water, but the captain and crew stayed with her until dawn when they took to the boats. Mate Ward was badly hurt while the boats were being launched and had to be carried off the vessel. The crew left New Haven in the bark Peru for Shanghai, with a cargo of kerosene oil. When the crew took to the boats it was found impossible to make a landing until the following morning, when they were rescued by some Chinese natives who demanded $200 before they would take them to shore.

A PANDORA'S BOX.

Mischief Let Loose from the Hold of a British Ship.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.
SAN FRANCISCO., Jan. 23.—The British ship Mill Wall, Capt. Brummett, arrived in port a short time ago from Rangoon, Burnash, with a cargo supposed to be composed exclusively of rice. When the hatches were removed, however, a vast swarm of insects flew out and an examination of the hold was found to be literally alive with them. So much so, in fact, that it was an impossibility for the sailors to descend for fear of suffocation.

The Disasters and Coast Survey has obtained specimens of the insects and recognizes among them two species of the common American weevil. But there are several others which are unknown to him and which he has sent to the University at Berkeley for classification. They may turn out to be a great pest.

TOOK HIS STEPDaUGHTER.

An ex-Cable-car Conductor Elopes and Leaves His Wife Destitute.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.
SAN FRANCISCO., January 23.—John H. Harvey, who was formerly a waiter in a restaurant in this city and had worked as a cable-car conductor, today eloped with his pretty seventeen-year-old daughter, leaving his wife in destitute circumstances.

Harvey married his present wife at Santa Rosa in 1886. She was a widow and had three children, the eldest of whom, Florence, is the heroine of the elopement. She has been married before, but her husband died with her mother since Mrs. Harvey is estranged by her husband's conduct. No trace has been obtained of the eloping couple, but if captured they will be prosecuted.

A WIDOW SWINDLED.

Sue Claims to Have Lost Eleven Thousand Dollars on a Deal.

SAN FRANCISCO., Jan. 23.—Henrietta G. Witzemann, a widow, declares that she has been defrauded of $5000 cash and $6000 in real estate by Sarah Spencer, Jacob Lewis and Milton W. Moon, representing themselves as acting for the Southern California Fruit and Improvement Company. She says they induced her to invest in shares of the company; being fraudulent, she sues for the return of the property.

A GLOOMY PICTURE.

Gerónimo's Return not a Pleasurable Anticipation to Arizonans.

TUCSON (Ariz.), Jan. 23.—It now seems a certainty that the notorious Apache renegade Gerónimo and his band of cut-throats will soon be returned to their old stamping-grounds in Arizona, the San Carlos reservation. During the years of Gerónimo's sojourn down South he has aged rapidly, and today his hair is white, his shoulders stooped and his limbs wanting the elasticity of a few years ago. Those who do not know an Apache Indian's devilish disposition believe that when he is along in years like the old chieftain, he is no longer a threat. Gerónimo is not more than 65 years old and an Apache Indian is never too old to be bad. During the last outbreak old Nana left the reservation, leaning on two sticks.

Old-timers throughout Southern Arizona think that the move of letting Gerónimo and his fellow cut-throats return is inevitable. They believe the Indians will do something, as far as possible, to behave themselves for six months to a year, when suspicion against them will be somewhat allayed. By that time they will have laid in a good supply of ammunition. The outbreak will probably be by half-dozen or dozen men, including some of the Chiricahuas of Mexico. The outbreak will probably occur after a few of them have been locked in the guardhouse.

Old Gerónimo and others will incite them to devilry, but will themselves probably take no visible hand. Theirs will be the first experiments of which earlier Arizonians are so familiar. Soldiers will make another chase and another million-dollar hunt will be made. Old Magnus and others of Gerónimo's party will probably want to go in pursuit of the renegades and, if they are permitted to, they will aid and abet the pursued in a most sordid way. These are the old tactics. Setters at the San Carlos reservation will view with alarm the proposed return of Gerónimo.

Carried Out to Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO., January 23.—The steamer Arcata came into port last night, with two of the crew of the British bark Almora aboard. The two men got out to sea yesterday morning during the night while attempting to board the Almora in a small boat, in which they had just returned from shore. They were found two miles up the coast. Their names are M. Murphy and Donald Chris-holm. They were the old tactics.

Fair's Wills Wanted.

United States Senators Newly-elected are Duly Indorsed—Knute Nelson Wins in Minnesota—Shoup Gains Two.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SALEM (Or.)., Jan. 23.—Senator J. N. Dolph failed of election in the joint session of the Legislature today, although he received 19 votes in the Senate yesterday and 29 in the Assembly, making a total of 48 votes, a majority of 3. He received the unanimous vote of the Republican caucus a week ago, but twenty-four members who went into the caucus refused to abide by the caucus vote.

One ballot was taken in joint session today and resulted as follows: Dolph, 44; Moore, 17; Hare, 10; Bennett, 8; Hermann, 4; Lord, 5; Williams, 1; absent, 1. Dolph lacked only one vote of election today, there being one member absent, making forty-five necessary to a choice.

Passenger Officials Meet.

CHICAGO., Jan. 23.—The general meeting of the passenger officials convened this morning to agree upon the formation of an agreement on passenger business. Mr. Lomax of the Union Pacific, sent word that he would not be here before Friday. The meeting then began the work of forming a provisional agreement which will be submitted to the Union Pacific if that road will not proceed to take up the action of direct claims of the association. This agreement is meant to be temporary only. The chief proposition as far as the Union Pacific is concerned provides for the acceptance by that line of all Montana and North Pacific Coast business at Denver instead of at Cheyenne. It will be agreed to the resumption of the interchange of round-trip business at all points. This is lifting the boycott against the Union Pacific, providing that line will agree to allow the others that portion of the haul between Missouri River and Denver.

Mrs Gertrude Vanderbilt, daughter of Cornelius Vanderbilt, who made her debut recently, received 148 bouquets, valued at about $35,000. Who says these are hard times?

A Modest Little Plot to Blow the Government to Kingdom Come.

SAN FRANCISCO., Jan. 23.—W. A. Almira, who came from Honolulu concealed in a barkentine, several weeks ago, says that he and other Royalists plotted to blow up President Dole and members of the Cabinet and troops with dynamite brought from Vancouver. The plot was told to the government by Claude Wetmore, a newspaper adventurer, who was in the plot.

IT WON'T WORK.

WASHINGTON., Jan. 23.—A proposition is being agitated among members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and the State Department which is novel if not practical. It is a revival of the various deportation schemes which have from time to time originated with a view of solving the race problem in the South by deporting the negro to Hawaii. It is urged that the climate is similar to that of the South, the agricultural industries are practically identical and the conditions of life and surroundings would not necessitate a material change. It is said that the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations is strongly in favor of this suggestion.

THE CABLE WILL WORK.

VALLEJO., Jan. 23.—The U.S. Ranger and Alert are ready to go to sea on Thursday. Stores have been placed on board, and, should nothing prevent, they will leave on that day to carry out the orders of Admiral Beardslee, issued prior to the sailing of the flagship Philadelphia for Honolulu. The ships will go out to sea in fleet maneuvers and exercises with the great guns. They may cruise down the coast, perhaps to San Diego, but will keep within easy hailing distance.

The gunboat Bennington will be ready for sea on Monday next. She is now having the tubes in her boilers repaired, and will probably then go to sea to join in drill practice. The cruiser Olympia is expected to arrive at the yard on Saturday, and will go into commission February 5.

TO DREDGE PEARL HARBOR.

WASHINGTON., Jan. 23.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations today authorized a favorable report on Senator Morgan's amendment to the Naval Appropriation bill making an appropriation of $110,000 for dredging Pearl Harbor (Hawaii).

There was also an informal discussion of the project for the amendment of the treaty with Hawaii so as to permit the United States to establish a naval base, but the matter did not appear to command itself to any of the members of the committee.

A VIGOROUS PROTEST.

At the mass-meeting held in Metropolitan Temple, San Francisco, on the evening of January 11, the following resolutions were adopted without a dissenting voice:

"Resolved, by the people of San Francisco in mass-meeting assembled, that we enter our solemn protest against the passage of any funding bill whatever, and hereby appeal to the Speaker of the House to protect us by not giving a special order for a day to the Pacific Railroad Committee; and further

"Resolved, that we appeal to each individual member of the House of Representatives not to overlook the 200,000 protestants filed against the bill by the inhabitants of the Pacific Coast."

A committee was also appointed, consisting of Messrs. James H. Barry, Charles C. Terrill and John M. Reynolds, to memorialize Congress, and to voice more fully than is voiced in the nation's history, not so very remote in the past, it would have subjected the men who uttered it to expulsion from Congress, if not to severer punishment. Such sentiments are scarcely more excusable now than they were at the time when treason was more odious than it now appears to be.

Such language as this, uttered on the floor of the national Congress, is not merely in bad taste—it is treasonable. If uttered at a certain period in the nation's history, not so very remote in the past, it would have subjected the men who uttered it to expulsion from Congress, if not to severer punishment. Such sentiments are scarcely more excusable now than they were at the time when treason was more odious than it now appears to be.

It is only through the unbounded tolerance and generosity of the American people—that pardoned but unpenitent traitors are permitted to spawn their treasonous venom on the very floors of Congress. Whether it is good policy to allow such things to pass unrebuted is hardly a debatable question.

A joint resolution has been introduced in Congress by Representative Linton of Michigan, for an amendment to the Constitution, providing that "neither Congress nor any State shall pass any law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the use thereof, or use the property or credit of the United States, or any money raised by taxation, or authorize either to be used for the purpose of founding, maintaining or aiding, by appropriation, payment for services, expenses, or otherwise, any church, religious denomination or religious society, or any society, institution or undertaking, which is wholly or in part under sectarian or ecclesiastical control." Such an amendment would be in harmony with the spirit of our institutions, and, if submitted to the several State legislatures, would doubtless be ratified by more than the necessary three-fourths majority.

The Chicago Tribune—a Republican journal with very wobbly tariff views—recommends American sheep-savers, instead of organizing to secure higher duties on wool, to "look on the meat and the lamb as the main source of profit, and the wool as an incidental. They can then," oracularly declares the Tribune, "make money out of their flocks." This is like recommending farmers to look on cornstalks and husks as the main source of profit, and the corn as an incidental. Or, to state the case another way, it is like recommending orange-growers to look to the firewood which their trees would furnish as the main source of profit, and the oranges as incidental. It is quite likely that the wool-growers of the country know their business better than the Chicago Tribune can explain it to them.

Prof. J. J. McCook, in a lecture delivered in Boston recently, strongly advocated the labor colony system as a remedy for the tramp nuisance. This system is in successful operation in several European countries, where it has served not only to relieve the public in a large measure from the importunities and the impositions of professional tramps, but to furnish employment for many deserving but unfortunate men, who are willing to work for moderate compensation until they can do better. Some such system will have to be adopted in this country sooner or later, before the tramp problem can be successfully solved.

During the year 1894 there were 9800 murders in the United States, an increase of nearly 50 per cent. over those of the preceding year. Notwithstanding the large number of murders committed in 1894, there were only 132 legal executions, or six more than in 1893. Lynchings exceeded the number of legal executions by 50 per cent., more than two-thirds of the victims being negroes, and there were seven lynchings in the South to one in the North. These statistics furnish food for a great deal of thought.

The Brooklyn police and the militia have been ordered to "respond point blank with lead, when attacked." This is kindness to the mob, though guised in seeming cruelty. To temporize with a mob is to invite further rioting and bloodshed. In emergencies of this kind it sometimes becomes necessary that a few should fall in order that many may be saved from the consequences of their own rashness.

John J. Ingalls of Kansas, in the role of a statesman out of a job, is not nearly so picturesque as John J. Ingalls, United States Senator. Mr. Ingalls, having been defeated in his Senatorial aspirations, is likely to remain out of a job for some time to come. But, though somewhat erratic, he is by long odds the brainiest man ever brought to the surface by the ebullitions of Kansas politics.

If the $500 said to have been raised by sentimental people for Burglar Bean's defense be not all needed for that purpose, the balance might be turned over to him, in case of his acquittal. Perhaps it would be sufficient to buy for him a brand-new kit of burglar's tools.

POST-BELLUM TREASON.

In an evening session of the House of Representatives recently, Mr. Jones of Virginia declared that he had spent more days and nights in the trenches around Richmond, and, though but a mere boy, had borne his musket longer and further than many of the thousands who are now enjoying pensions and living upon the bounty of the government. "In which trenches?" inquired a member. "On the side of the Confederacy," replied Jones. "A cause of which I am as proud today, though it went down in defeat, as I was when, filled with boyish enthusiasm and patriotic aspirations, I espoused it."

At another meeting, a few evenings later, Representative Tolbert of South Carolina personally declared that, "as to the lost cause, it is the everlasting cause, and can never be lost, because it is the cause of liberty." Then Jones again declared that he was proud of the lost cause, and that he still maintained, as he had always maintained, that the cause was right.

Senator Mathews proposes to amend his county-bond railroad bill. The best amendment he could make would be to withdraw this impracticable measure altogether.

Illinois, as expected, has re-elected Shubel C. Culom to the United States Senate.

The Assembly has repealed the coyote scalp law. Let the good work go on.

I KNOW IT'S KINDER RAINY, BUT—

It seems to me, I heared a teller say last fall:
That he wuz gittin' awful 'feered we'd have
He said he wuz in winter when the clouds wuz drivin' by,
Our rains wuz kinder at an' an' we'ld keeps dry.An' it wuz kinder fall to spring, the clouds wuz in a rush.
Just stopped to give us dribblin' enough to be wet.We had to grub our crop of hay, too short to try to mow.

Looked like the drought had come to stay an' an'

So when November went las' year and nothin' but wet butin'.The teller said, "You see it's clear its comin' dry."An' by this time nex' year ye'll see the clouds in all need.The crops ain't even going to be enou' to seed in.It somehow kinder seems to me that teller's slipped a cog.For rain been comin' pretty free, an' evry day it's a goin'.A cloud no bigger'n my han'l le an awful mess.Water-leakin' on the lan', too much fer me to guess.But as fer me, why let her come, I feel like I could dance.An' caper round until, by gum! I split my fingers.I know the roads is gittin' soft an' rivers gittin' high.

That folks is lookin' up aloft and wishin' it

But when the lan' was dry as dust an' not a drop of wet.I heared em say, "Good Lord, we trust you'll give us rain," you bet!They ain't no use a-tryin' fer to please the human race.They ain't no use a-tryin' that they's somethin' in our place.An' so they keep a-cussin' an' a-gashin' of their guns.But when the first an' fusin' they mus'- take it as it comes.I'll tell you what's the matter now, as far as I'm concerned.I say I'll tell her pater and the grumb'r be darned.The rains is soakin' up our lan's, so let 'em soak, I say.The humpin' on their han's on evry rainy day.At night I lay an' hear the drops a spatterin' like sin.Until we feel my lanky chops go splittin' in a great pain.An' chucklin', I go to sleep an' dream' o' plenty thoughts.Lord, how the mountain steep to feed the summer springs.Perchance the drivin' rain I see the joy uv summer-time.The mornin' sun is fruits to be, the fruits of tropic vine;The sheets o' rain is fields o' wheat an' lots an' lots o' grass;The wind full o' odors sweet, as soft they swell apan;While the earth's a soror crownin' 'cause the clouds in sprin' a leak.

Father's cheek is grown whiskers on ol'

But with dabs of daisy lather summertime will fleck her beard.

An' when the sun will gather all her whiskers, I'm afraid.

Whatever comes to happen, why it suits me just well to keep on a-drappin' er it gets as dry as Time.

The moon shud get to bairns, and the hemisph're shud bus

I have got enuf' discernin' fer to see it might be worse.

Prof. J. J. McCook, in a lecture delivered in Boston recently, strongly advocated the labor colony system as a remedy for the tramp nuisance. This system is in successful operation in several European countries, where it has served not only to relieve the public in a large measure from the importunities and the impositions of professional tramps, but to furnish employment for many deserving but unfortunate men, who are willing to work for moderate compensation until they can do better. Some such system will have to be adopted in this country sooner or later, before the tramp problem can be successfully solved.

[RAILROAD RECORD.]
BLOCKADE BROKEN.Arrival of Delayed Santa Fe Trains.

No Further Trouble is Anticipated in the Vicinity of Williams, Arizona.

Magnates Coming in from the East in Their Private Cars—The Santa Fe Reorganization.

Railroad Notes.

Yesterday's rainfall did not cause any disturbance of traffic on the Southern Pacific or Southern California roads, but the officials looked askance at the distant mountain range and shook their heads rather dubiously. Any continued rain will mean washouts in the low lands, blockades in the mountains and general impediment to travel.

As a general thing the recent heavy rains did not do any damage to the crops, but a further downpour is apt to make some trouble.

The Southern Pacific overland was several hours late last night but with that exception all trains were on fairly good time yesterday.

The three trains which were detained by the blockade, near Williams, on the Atlantic and Pacific line, arrived over the Southern California last night. The blockade having been broken, reports are to the effect that no further danger need be apprehended in that quarter.

tendent has employed on the parks men who were not citizens. This charge, however, does not appear to be substantiated, for an investigation of the matter was made by a Times reporter several months ago.

The payroll of the park employees for a month was examined to see if the names of any of them did not appear on the Great Register. With two or three exceptions every man on the rolls was found to be a voter. One of these exceptions was the foreman of the conservatory for whom position a man of special qualifications is required.

House Sewer Connections.

Specifications are being prepared in the City Engineer's office for making house connections with sewers. It is intended by means of them to prevent connections from being made in such a fashion as to permit quantities of dirt to get into the sewers. Compliance with such specifications, it is expected, can be made compulsory by ordinance.

City Hall Notes.

The new Board of Health is to have a meeting at 9 p.m. tomorrow.

F. M. Potter and others have filed a petition asking that an electric light be placed at Wright and Sixteenth streets.

A memorial anniversary of the birthday of W. M. Friesner, late Superintendent of City Schools, will be celebrated this evening by a meeting to be held at Music Hall. The patrons of schools during Superintendent Friesner's administration and other friends interested are invited to be present.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.The Courts.*SAM DUGAN SECURES A CONTINUANCE.

When the case against Sam E. Dugan, an ex-police-man, charged with having assaulted Robert E. Lee, a brother officer, with intent to commit murder on September 29, last, was called for trial in Department One yesterday afternoon, the defendant announced that he was not ready to proceed and asked for a continuance upon the ground that one of his most material witnesses was absent.

In support of his motion an affidavit was filed by Dugan, setting forth the fact that, while he fully believes, and has been so advised by his counsel, that he had a good and sufficient defense, he could not safely go to trial on account of the absence of one Lyman Plummer, who is temporarily in the city of Portland, Or.

Sam E. Dugan left this city before the case was set for trial, the defendant stating that he was unable to subpoena him.

The affidavit further sets forth the fact that the defendant expects to show by said witness who was present at the corner of Main and Second streets, when the difficulty occurred between Dugan and Lee, that before the defendant fired the first shot said Lee applied an opprobrious epithet to him and attempted to draw his pistol and shoot defendant.

Upon this showing Judge Smith granted the motion for a continuance and reset the case for March 5 next.

WANTS HER BABY.

In response to the application of Mrs. Alice Ebert, a writ of habeas corpus was issued by Judge Smith yesterday morning, directing her husband, William C. Ebert, to produce the body of her six-months-old baby, Anna Irene. In her petition Mrs. Ebert sets forth the fact, on account of his immorality that she had been compelled to leave her husband on Monday evening last, taking with her the baby, but that last night, during her temporary absence, Ebert surreptitiously kidnapped said baby and now unlawfully withdraws it from her.

The writ was served upon Ebert by Deputy Sheriff Buchanan at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but when the writ was called for hearing by Judge Smith, the respondent failed to appear. Mrs. Ebert and a couple of friends waited patiently in the courtroom for the remainder of the afternoon, but to no purpose, for Ebert had apparently given up the idea of obeying the command of the court. A bench warrant for his arrest was ordered issued, with bail fixed thereon in the sum of $200, but up to 5 o'clock last evening this document had not been served. Ebert having succeeded in evading the officers.

The same questions are also raised by the demurrer.

WANTED TO DIE.

MRS. JOSIE MCGINN'S ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.

Swallowed an Ounce of Laudanum, but She Was Not Permitted to Accomplish Her Purpose.

Mrs. Josie McGinn, stepdaughter of John C. Platt of No. 124 South Olive street, was picked up by the patrol wagon in a supposed dying condition at the corner of Franklin and New High streets, and with her sister, Miss Grace Platt, was taken to the Receiving Hospital. She was there treated for laudanum poisoning and by the efforts of Police Surgeon Bryant and assistants, her life was saved. She had swallowed about a third of a two-ounce bottle of the drug.

Officer Mercer sent for the patrol wagon at 12.30 p.m. He saw a large crowd gathered around two young women, and as Mrs. McGinn was in an apparently serious condition, he rang in the summons. Miss Platt did not know at first what the matter with her sister was, and was highly indignant because a hack was not summoned, as she requested, so they could go to their home. She stated to a Times reporter that her sister told her she was suffering from laudanum poisoning.

They left their home on Olive street and walked over the hill down town. At the foot of the terrace steps on Broadway Mrs. McGinn complained of feeling weak, but they continued down Franklin street. At New High she gave out completely and sat down on the stairway to rest. It was then that Mrs. McGinn received a message from a clothing-store to see her a hack. She asked her sister what her trouble was, and asked her sister what her trouble was. "I have taken laudanum."

Beyond that she said little and refused to be questioned. However, when she finally left with her mother, she was in good condition, though very weak, and made some explanations. The mother was summoned to the hospital at about 1 o'clock.

She greatly worried over the occurrence. She said she had had some little trouble with her daughters and had occasion to speak severely to her daughter Josie during the afternoon, at about 5 p.m. The daughter then left the house and she had not seen her since until she saw her in the hospital.

The young woman had gone upstairs to her room after the scolding, and had fixed up her hair preparatory for the walk down town. On the bureau was a quantity of glycerine and laudanum that was used for ear troubles, and this, in a moment of impulsive despair, she swallowed. Then she and Miss Platt left the house and she gradually grew weaker until she sank down on Franklin street.

After she had recovered at the Receiving Hospital her mother took her home in a hack, where, with careful attention and rest, she will soon be again. She was very weak and was scarcely able to walk when she entered the hack. The sister was very much surprised at the occurrence, and could give no other reason for Mrs. McGinn's action. The letter was a widow with a well-grown girl of 10 years. She is about 28 years of age.
